VOLLEYBALL

Hello! And welcome to the University of Iowa volleyball media guide!

When searching the country for the right school for you, I hope you find the information inside this media guide helpful and insightful. As a former student-athlete, I understand the importance of finding a school and a volleyball program that is the right fit for you. Your academic and athletic career deserves careful consideration, and I can guarantee both will receive thoughtful attention as you consider the University of Iowa.

Iowa is an outstanding university with a worldwide reputation of academic excellence. A member of one of the finest academic and athletic conferences in the country, the University of Iowa features faculty and staff members who are committed to making your experience as a student-athlete a positive one. And you'll be able to do so in one of the greatest college communities the country has to offer. Iowa City is a classic college town that mixes the strength of a university with a small town environment that you'll be proud to call home.

The volleyball program at the University of Iowa continues to take steps towards the NCAA postseason while competing in the strongest volleyball conference in the country. Combined with an enthusiastic and experienced coaching staff, the volleyball team is built with student-athletes that value teamwork, dedication and commitment. The program is complete with a support staff that genuinely invests in the success of Iowa's student-athletes.

We're also fortunate to play our home games in the conference's largest volleyball facility -- Carver-Hawkeye Arena -- where we've set season attendance records in two of the last three years.

It is our hope that you will continue to consider The University of Iowa as a place for your future. Our program offers incredible academic opportunities combined with a Big Ten athletic experience that is unparalleled. The University of Iowa and the Iowa City community will provide all the necessary ingredients to make your academic and athletic experiences as rewarding as possible.

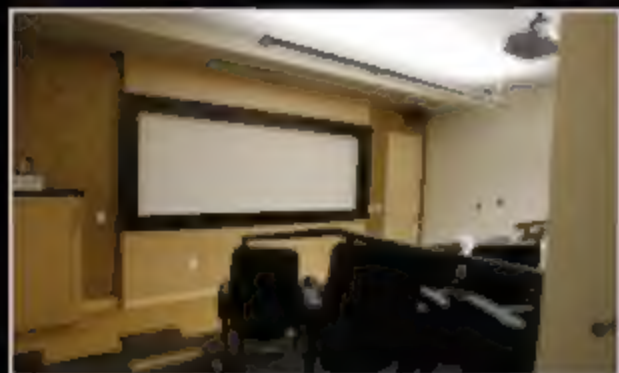

We hope you will share in the excitement about The University of Iowa and our program.

IT'S GREAT TO BE A HAWKEYE!

18 SEAT THEATER ROOM

LOUNGE AREA

The University of Iowa Strength and Conditioning Department is committed to providing the ultimate training experience for each Hawkeye student-athlete. Our focus is the development of the complete student-athlete through the use of proven scientific methods for reducing the risk of injury, as well as maximizing each student-athletes' athletic potential. Equally as important, our staff will foster a culture of relationship building in which we will seek to enhance the intangible character traits required for each Hawkeye to reach his or her championship potential on and off the playing stage.

We have four Goals in our Strength and Conditioning Program:

1) INCREASE ATHLETIC PERFORMANCE

- Improve your game with better speed and explosive power.

2) DECREASE RATE OF INJURY

- Significantly reduce your risk of joint and tendon injuries.
- Build the right strength and flexibility in the upper body to create not only better arm strength but healthier arms and shoulders.

3) INCREASE SELF CONFIDENCE

- There is a certain confidence in knowing you have prepared yourself and given yourself a chance to be successful.

4) IMPROVE MENTAL TOUGHNESS

- We will not be distracted and will develop the ability to focus on the task at hand and not be deterred by every day highs and lows.

Head coach Sharon Dingman and University of Iowa volleyball program expect new results to accompany a new cast of characters, new facilities and new conference foe that pepper the Hawkeye landscape in 2011.

Dingman wanted to add athleticism and depth to this year's team. She did just that by adding a nationally recognized recruiting class. Seven newcomers from all walks of life join 10 returning letterwinners from last season's squad. They include a pair of homegrown athletes, a Gatorade Player of the Year, a second generation Hawkeye, a Division II transfer and a pair of middle hitters from Wisconsin and Michigan.

"We need good athletes," said Dingman, who enters her fourth season with the program. "We need to continually up the bar of the level of athlete we're recruiting, but at the same time, we have to have kids that know how to play the game of volleyball at a pretty high level. I really like the mix we have in this class."

The rookies will be joined by a group of sophomores that hit the ground running a year ago. Bethany Yeager started every set at the libero position. Rachael Bedell appeared in more than 100 sets and ranked fourth on the team in total kills. Nikki Dailey split time evenly at the setter position. Dingman expects all three players to benefit from last season's growing pains.

"That sophomore group needs to show us that they've grown up at least a year," said Dingman. "I think that's what we're looking for, to show that you've matured in your game and you're prepared to manage the game and become a better player."

Four seniors — all players that have been Dingman dependents since the coach arrived on campus in 2008 — and a pair of juniors are expected to add leadership to a roster made up of 11 underclassmen. The elders understand the scene is new, but the goals remains the same — work hard, get better, build tradition, and advance to the postseason.

"We should start to see some benefits from having this senior group around all four years," Dingman said. "They have a lot of playing experience. Certainly Mallory (Husz) has the most playing experience of the group. We're expecting her to be one of our leaders as we move through the Big Ten season, and that includes helping our young players."

"How do you manage this brutal thing they call the Big Ten? We're really hoping for big things from these seniors. They need to be role models on the court, off the court, in the weight room and everywhere in between."

The hard work is always just that, hard — never easy. But the amenities inside the renovated Carver-Hawkeye Arena, at the very least, have made it more enjoyable. The Hawkeyes open 2011 with a new practice facility, a new locker room — complete with player lounge and video theatre — and a new playing environment. Gone are North Carver and the black curtain that split Iowa's famed arena in two. The Hawkeyes are back to playing full-court in 2011. A ring of curtains will provide an intimate atmosphere, but the Hawkeye fans are back to sitting 360-degrees.

The Hawkeye also hope to benefit from what's familiar in 2011, and that includes the coaching staff. Dingman, Jason Allen and Angie Bokdt are back for their fourth seasons and assistant coach Ben Bokdt returns for his third. The consistency in the "front office" has allowed the program to cultivate a culture of great expectations and growth. And they've done so in a conference that adapts the same philosophy. The Big Ten has dominated the national tournament in recent history. Penn State has won the last four NCAA titles. The last team to win a championship not named Penn State was Nebraska — Iowa's newest conference rival. Nothing gets easier in the Big Ten, but the Hawkeyes are ready to work.

SETTERS

The Hawkeyes return a starting setter for the first time in three years. And as an added plus, that starter is a two-headed monster. Senior Paige Stevens played in 95 sets last year. Sophomore Nikki Dailey played in 94. This season Dingman hopes the competition brings out the best in the two players and someone grabs the starting position. Dailey showed improvement every weekend during the spring season, but it was at the expense of Stevens' rehab. The senior underwent surgery following the 2010 season and missed all of spring competition.

"We've got experience," said Dingman, "which we were completely lacking a year ago because Paige had never really set in college and Nicki was a freshman. It was a bummer for Paige that she missed all spring with her surgery, but at the same time, Nicki got every single contact, every practice and every competition. They're both very capable, I love their experience and I think it's going to create some really good competition in the gym."

"They're also two pretty different setters, so it'll be fun to see. The challenge for Paige is that she just got fully released, so there's going to be conditioning from not playing all spring and summer, it's going to be a race for reps for her and she has a lot of catching up to do. Nicki just continued to improve every weekend in the spring. Hopefully, we'll continue to see that improvement this fall."

MIDDLE HITTERS

Senior Mallory Husz is in the middle. She is Iowa's top returner in kills and blocks, and despite right shoulder surgery in 2010, she is expected to make a big impact in 2011. In addition to her on-court performance, Husz will continue mentoring three players that make up Iowa's most inexperienced position. Sophomore Chante Thompson returns following a freshman season that included limited playing time. Freshman Emily Yanny will provide a traditional 6-2 presence in the middle, and Erin Leppik brings a level of athleticism that rivals Husz.

"We really have some inexperience there because of Mal's spring surgery," said Dingman. "It's going to be pretty critical how she's able to come back from that because if we don't have Mal, we've got some real inexperience in the blockers."

"We absolutely expect her to play, but the freshmen are going to have to figure it out fast, much like Bethany (Yeager) did last year. Emily is tall and long. Her offensive game is certainly ahead of her blocking. Erin is a six footer who just flies. Since I've been at Iowa, we haven't had a player who jumps as well as Erin. She's just an amazing athlete."

"Chante is another one that has to get healthy, because when she's on the court and she's determined, she can have an impact offensively and defensively."

LIBERO

The position on the team with the highest growing population is the libero. Last year it was a one woman show. Bethany Yeager donned the alternate jersey every set, every match, and ranked fourth in the Big Ten in digs per set. Junior Allison Straumann had the athleticism to be a frequent defensive stopper off the bench, but the libero position unquestionably belonged to Yeager. This year, the Hawkeyes have sophomore transfer Grace Burns and freshmen Megan Makuck and Kari Mueller to challenge the incumbent.

"I'm super excited about where we are at the libero position," said Dingman. "Bethany certainly has the lead on being our starter, but Megan Makuck and Kari Mueller coming in will certainly make Bethany better every single day. And Grace Burns is another one. She has college experience and is right behind Bethany, knocking on the door and tapping her shoulder every single day."

ALLISON STRAUMANN
JUNIOR

Dingman also knows Straumann's athleticism and the versatility of freshman Alli O'Deen will also help improve Iowa's defense and passing.

"The coaching staff is very excited about Alli O'Deen. Do we envision her being a Libero? No, but she can pass and play defense with the best of them. If that's where we think she can have the biggest impact, then it may be her and Bethany fighting it out. She and Allison Straumann will provide additional depth, so I anticipate us to be much improved in that area this year."

OUTSIDE HITTERS

It's no surprise the Hawkeyes will take the floor with an attack on the outside and the right side, but this year's group of hitters will really have to challenge for the opportunity to see the floor. The Hawkeyes with the most experience include seniors Megan Eskeew and Tiffany Nilges and sophomore Rachael Bedell. Eskeew "throws the bus" according to Dingman. The returning team captain and fifth-year senior took more swings at the net than any other Hawkeye last season and doesn't surrender many attacks.

"Megan is not just setting for anything," said Dingman. "It's really good, I feel like she's got us going in a really good place right now. We had a very productive summer and a lot of credit goes to Megan."

Nilges also owns an admirable amount of experience, having played in 61 matches her first three seasons, including 22 starts as a junior. Bedell showed improvement from beginning to end in 2010, recording 21 starts and 100 hits her freshman season. She also gained valuable international experience as a member of Team USA this summer.

"We're ready for Tiffany to take that next step," said Dingman. "She's worked hard, and she's been a constant for us, but we're hoping she can take her game to another level."

"Michael continues to impress. She got to see volleyball at a completely different level. Even when she wasn't on the court, she was able to see things you just don't oversee. She's going to learn from that experience and we'll all benefit."

The Hawkeye veterans will be pushed by freshman Alex Lovell, the aforementioned O'Brien, and junior Lauren Friedman. Lovell was a high school All-American and Goetz's Michigan Volleyball Player of the Year. O'Brien is the type of attacker Dingman likes to see on the floor -- smart, versatile, prepared. Friedman transitioned to the outside and appeared in 56 sets last season after playing in the middle as a freshman.

"I think Tiff, Megan and Michael need to come in ready to go from the very beginning," said Dingman. "They have a lot of experience and need to put it to good use or their going to find themselves on the outside looking in. Alex is ready to come in. She's ready to come in and start and make an immediate impact. She has the skill to do that."

"O'Brien has all the tools you look for in an outside hitter at this level, and Lauren also brings a lot to the table. She's experienced, versatile, committed and prepared. Lauren does a lot of things that we expect from Iowa volleyball players."

SHARON DINGMAN HEAD COACH FOURTH SEASON

Sharon Dingman was named the eighth coach in the history of University of Iowa volleyball March 23, 2006. In three seasons at the helm of the volleyball program, she has inspired a winning attitude and established a volleyball culture that has Iowa fans excited about the immediate future.

In 2010, the Hawkeyes used a nationally recognized recruiting class to begin building a program that will in time ascend up the Big Ten Standings. Iowa's five freshmen combined for 67 starts. The Hawkeyes started their freshman quarter four times, more than any other Big Ten school. Iowa kicked off the season with consecutive tournament championships and made program history by starting the season 3-0 for the second consecutive year.

Iowa knocked off No. 16 Michigan in Carver-Hawkeye Arena on Nov. 12 to mark the third time in as many seasons Dingman and the Hawkeyes have defeated a top 25 opponent.

In 2009, Dingman helped Iowa match the best start in program history by guiding the Hawkeyes to a 6-0 record. Iowa eventually became the first team in school history to start the season 7-0 on the road. The Hawkeyes captured five conference wins in 2009, raising Dingman's two-year Big Ten win total to 11, the highest two-year stretch for a volleyball team since 2000-01.

Iowa set season attendance records in each of Dingman's two years as head coach, including averaging a school record 1,632 fans in 2009, the 23rd highest total in the country. Since 2006, the Hawkeyes have experienced eight of the school's top 10 all-time attendance figures. On November 11, 2009, the Hawkeye topped the 3,000 mark for the first time in program history when 3,162 fans witnessed Iowa host top-ranked Penn State.

In her first season at the helm, Dingman led the Hawkeyes to their most successful campaign in eight years, with 14 wins in 2008 were tied for the most since 2000, and its six conference victories are the most since 2000. Dingman guided the Hawkeyes to a ninth place finish in the competitive Big Ten Conference, which was the highest finish for a Hawkeye squad since 2000.

Dingman and the Hawkeyes set or snapped many streaks in a successful first season. Iowa won seven-straight matches, tying the fourth-longest winning streak in school history. The Hawkeyes also swept every opponent during the winning streak and won 15-straight sets. That was the longest set-winning streak since 1998. Iowa opened the conference season with wins over No. 18 Wisconsin and Northwestern, marking only the fifth time in school history that a Hawkeye team started 2-0 in Big Ten play. The Hawkeyes also had a winning record inside Carver-Hawkeye Arena for the first time since 1998.

The Hawkeyes also snapped conference losing streaks in Dingman's first season. Iowa defeated Ohio State for the first time in 39 tries, dating back to 1988. That win also broke an 18-match losing skid on the road in Big Ten play. Iowa's upset win over No. 18 Wisconsin snapped a 26-match losing streak against the Badgers, which went back to 1994.

Dingman set a personal milestone at Northwestern Nov. 14, 2008, when she recorded her 330th career win in Iowa's five-set victory. Her career record stands at 363-249 in 18 seasons as head coach.

Dingman arrived at Iowa after serving as head coach at Illinois State from 2000-07, where she compiled a 147-98 record. In 2007, Dingman led the Redbirds to their first at-large berth in the NCAA Tournament since 1997 after reaching the championship match of the Missouri Valley Conference Tournament and finished with a 21-12 overall record.

Illinois State produced winning seasons in seven of the eight seasons under Dingman and never finished lower than fifth in the Missouri Valley Conference. The Redbirds also reached at least the semifinals of the Missouri Valley Conference Tournament in six of her eight seasons. Dingman produced 21 all-Missouri Valley Conference selections, including Player of the Year, Libero of the Year and two Freshman of the Year honorees. Two players also garnered all-district and all-region honors.

In her first season at Illinois State, Dingman guided the Redbirds to a 20-9 record, including a 15-3 mark in the Missouri Valley Conference. Illinois State finished second in the Missouri Valley and also reached the championship match of the conference tournament, narrowly missing an automatic NCAA Tournament bid after dropping a tough match to nationally-ranked Northern Iowa.

Dingman led Illinois State to a record-setting season in 2004. She guided the team to 22 wins, which was the most since 1988 and broke a school record with 10-consecutive home wins. Two Illinois State players were named first team all-conference and one was an honorable mention AVCA all-District pick.

Dingman helped create a strong home court advantage at Illinois State. Five of the top 20 crowds in Missouri Valley Conference history occurred at Redbird Arena under Dingman, including a league-record 5,641 fans in a match against nationally-ranked Stanford in 2002.

Redbird teams under Dingman were also strong in the classroom. Eleven players were named to the league's scholar-athlete squad in her eight seasons and in 2004, four volleyball student-athletes earned perfect 4.0 grade-point averages and the team received a 3.32 GPA. In 2005, her volleyball team won the academic award for the highest GPA in the athletic department.

Dingman started her head coaching career in 1991 at Auburn, where she led the Tigers to a 22-13 record in her first season at the helm. Her 1991 squad became the first Auburn volleyball team to receive votes in the national poll and Auburn's fourth place finish in the SEC that season marked the highest finish ever for Auburn at the time. Two student-athletes earned all-SEC honors, including Jennifer Heyn, who was named the SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year and was an NCAA post-graduate scholarship recipient who carried a 4.0 GPA.

She then moved to Butler in 1992, where she served as head coach for eight seasons. Dingman led the Bulldogs to four 20-win seasons and three postseason tournaments, including an appearance in the NCAA Tournament in 1997 after capturing the Midwestern Collegiate Conference title. She was named MCCC Coach of the Year in 1997 after compiling a 20-7 record. Dingman guided three student-athletes to MCCC Player of the Year honors, several accolades and five to "Top 100 Student" honors at Butler.

Prior to becoming a head coach, Dingman spent seven seasons as an assistant coach at three Division I programs. After one season at Northern Michigan (1984), she assisted at Toms Tech for three seasons (1985-87). Dingman then spent three seasons at Kentucky (1988-90) and helped the Wildcats to an SEC Championship in 1988 along with three-straight regional finals appearances in the NCAA Tournament.

Dingman has become one of the most respected volleyball coaches in the nation for her work off the court as a member of the American Volleyball Coaches Association Board of Directors for seven years and has also served on many other sport-related committees. She volunteered to support the Special Olympics, the Council of Women Athletics Administrators and the Citizens for Sports Equity. She was named an Outstanding Young Woman of America in 1989 and served as a volunteer at the 1996 Olympic Games in Atlanta.

Her playing career included back-to-back Big Ten championships at Purdue (1979-80) before transferring to Northern Michigan, where she served as team captain and most valuable player. She earned her bachelor's degree in health sciences from Northern Michigan in 1984 and attended graduate school at Kentucky (1984-88), completing coursework towards her master's degree in health education.

Along with her career in volleyball, Dingman earned a gold medal in team handball at the 1987 U.S. Olympic Festival and was invited to train with the U.S. national handball team in 1987. She also has completed five marathons.

FOURTH SEASON

Jason Allen is in his fourth season as an assistant coach at Iowa. Allen was promoted to the team's recruiting coordinator following the 2008 season.

The Hawkeyes' recruiting class has earned national honors in every year since Allen was promoted to recruiting coordinator.

In Allen's second year, he helped the Hawkeyes match the program's best start in school history, becoming just the third Hawkeye team to start the season 6-0. Iowa fought its way to five conference wins, raising the two-year total since Allen arrived on campus to 11 Big Ten victories, the best two-year stretch since 2000-01.

In his first season at Iowa, Allen helped the Hawkeyes to 14 wins, which ties the most for an Iowa team since 2000. The Hawkeyes also won six Big Ten matches, the most for an Iowa squad in eight seasons.

In 2010, Allen served as the head coach of the Iowa High Performance Junior National team that advanced to compete in the USAV High Performance National Championships in the Wisconsin Dells.

Allen spent the 2007 season as the 1st Head Coach for the Texas Tornadoes club program, which is considered one of the top volleyball clubs in the nation. Allen led the current team to a No. 17 national ranking and coached 10 players who received Division I scholarships. Four of Allen's players were also named to the top 120 players in the country list by numerous publications. Allen led his team to a first place finish at the 16 Open Northeast Qualifier. He also served as the recruiting director and volunteer.

Prior to his time with the Texas Tornadoes, Allen served as an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator at Sam Houston State University (2004-07). Allen helped lead Sam Houston State to a second place finish in the Southland Conference (2005) and coached a total of eight student-athletes to all-conference honors. Allen was also responsible for video scouting, recruit evaluating and summer camps.

Allen was an assistant coach for the Lone Star Youth High Performance Team, both Austin and Houston, TX from 2005-06. In 2005, his team finished fifth in the USA High Performance Championships and in 2006, the team finished third.

Allen began his collegiate coaching career at the Division II level, where he was a graduate assistant at Southwest Minnesota State. In his one season, Southwest Minnesota State was crowned co-champions of the Northern Sun Intercollegiate Conference and appeared in the NCAA Division II National Tournament. He also helped coach five all-conference and two all-region student-athletes.

Allen moved on to North Dakota State University, where he was an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator (2002-04). North Dakota State won the North Central Conference title in 2003 and qualified for the NCAA Division II National Tournament twice, including a "Sweet 16" appearance in 2003. Allen helped lead four student-athletes to all-region honors and two to all-conference honors in 2003. He also recruited and signed the North Central Region Player of the Year in 2003.

Allen played one season at Tomball College in Tomball, TX, before transferring to Oklahoma Baptist University. Allen helped Tomball to a third place finish in the NCAA Collegiate Volleyball Championships and served as player-coach for the Oklahoma Baptist club team. Allen was a member of three state tournament teams and was named to the all-tournament team twice. He was also a member of the International Sports Federation volleyball team for two tournaments throughout North Africa, playing various national teams and junior national teams.

Allen graduated from Oklahoma Baptist (2000) with a degree in business administration with an emphasis in communications, business administration and psychology. He worked towards his Masters of Education in wellness and performance at Southwest Minnesota State University. Allen also completed his Masters of Exercise Science in sports psychology at North Dakota State University.

BEN BOLDT ASSISTANT COACH THIRD SEASON

Ben Boldt enters his third season as an assistant coach at Iowa.

In the summer of 2010, Boldt served as an assistant coach for USA Volleyball, and in the spring of 2011, he was among the staff personnel at the U.S. Women's National Team tryouts.

In his second season in charge of headrow defenders, Boldt helped Bethany Yinger become the first Hawkeyes freshman in five years to lead the team in digs.

In his first season with the Hawkeyes, Boldt helped lead the team to six straight wins to start the season, a mark that matched the best program start in school history. He was instrumental in leading a Hawkeye defense that ranked third in the Big Ten in digs per game.

Boldt also coached first-year libero Christine McInnes, who ranked second in the conference in digs and became Iowa's first Big Ten Player of the Week since 2004.

Boldt coached at Nebraska, NE, immediately after serving two years as an assistant coach at Alabama. In his first season at Nebraska, Boldt helped the Cornhuskers win their third-straight NCAA Tournament berth, and its third overall NCAA Tournament appearance in school history. Boldt also coached middle blocker Crystal Hudson to all-American honors, and helped bring in Alabama's first recruiting class.

Boldt was named to the American Volleyball Coaches Association (AVCA) in the spring of 2009 when he was given the "Thirty Under 30 Award." The "Thirty Under 30 Award" was established so the volleyball community could spotlight up-and-coming professionals in the sport at all levels of the game, including high school and all NCAA Divisions.

Boldt served as a staff assistant for five seasons at the University of Nebraska while pursuing his degree, prior to joining the Alabama staff. While at Nebraska, Boldt was a part of one of the most successful programs in NCAA history. Nebraska won the Big 12 championships and advanced to the National Semifinals three times. In his final season at Nebraska, the Cornhuskers finished 33-1 at home crowned NCAA champions after knocking off Stanford in the title game.

While at Nebraska, Boldt served as a coach for USA Volleyball at numerous levels. He was a USA Youth National Team coach in 2005-06, and was also a part of the A2 team in 2004.

Boldt also has experience coaching at the club level. He has served as head coach for the Iowa Redwings club for the past three years. He was also a head coach for both the Challenger Volleyball Club from 2000-04 and the Nebraska Juniors from 2005-06.

ANGIE BOLDT
DIRECTOR OF OPERATIONS
FOURTH SEASON

Angie Boldt is in her fourth season as Director of Volleyball Operations at the University of Iowa.

Her responsibilities include team travel logistics and managing day-to-day operations within the volleyball program. She also helps coordinate home matches, tournaments, alumni events, team receptions and banquets.

Boldt comes to Iowa after serving as a graduate assistant with volleyball operations at the University of Alabama from 2005-08. She helped coordinate team travel, home matches and tournaments, team receptions and banquets and both youth development and coaches clinics. Boldt also helped oversee day-to-day operations for the volleyball office, including scheduling, recruiting and budget issues.

Prior to her stint at Alabama, Boldt was a student worker for volleyball operations at the University of Nebraska from 2000-06. During her time, the Cornhuskers were a perennial top-five program and won the 2006 NCAA national championship.

Boldt has five years of coaching experience at the club level. She served as both an assistant and on-head coach for the South Central Volleyball Club in St. Paul, NE, from 2003-06. Boldt also taught private lessons at the Nebraska Volleyball Academy in Lincoln, NE, in 2006 and also served as both an assistant and on-head coach for the Club Crimson Volleyball Club in Tuscaloosa, AL. She currently serves as a coach for the Iowa Rockets Volleyball Club, based in eastern Iowa.

The St. Paul, NE, native graduated from Nebraska in 2006 with a degree in education and human sciences, with endorsements in natural sciences and coaching. She received her masters in general studies in human environmental sciences, with an emphasis in sport management, from Alabama in the spring of 2008.

Boldt is married to current Hawkeye assistant coach Ben Boldt.

GARY BARTA ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Gary Barta is in his sixth year as director of athletics at the University of Iowa – and his 25th year in athletics administration – riding a wave of momentum. Cause for that energy is the fact the Hawkeyes enjoyed record-setting performances in the classroom and on the playing field, the completion of the second-largest construction project in the history of intercollegiate athletics at the UI, and the breaking of ground on a new indoor practice facility for the Hawkeye football program.

With respect to the UI academic momentum, Barta says the UI's sustained rates for student-athletes made public this fall to be among the highest ever. Achieved without compromise, the UI's success in the high profile sports of football, and men's and women's basketball, and golf.

Through the 2010-11 season, all 20 of Iowa's teams earned the Academic Progress Rate (APR) award for the third straight year and honored a school-record four UI teams – men's basketball, softball, men's tennis and women's tennis – that ranked in the top 10 percent of their sport, based on their most recent multi-year APR.

Meanwhile, the UI set national records with 570 points scored in the 2011 Las Vegas Soccer Cup. Performance was driven in great measure by another successful season for the UI football team, including a record third straight bowl game, 27-20, over Minnesota in the Insight Bowl; three straight Big Ten NCAA championships by Iowa's wrestling program; a fourth straight Big Ten and NCAA championship by the women's basketball program; strong performances by the UI's men's and women's track and field teams; and a school-record 10th place finish by the UI men's golf team.

Along with the Big Ten and NCAA championships was the first league title in men's basketball and field hockey years. Gary Wenzel's squad climbed to the top of the podium by dominating the Big Ten competition on the Big Ten Championship Team. An All-American distance runner, 2011 student-athlete at the UI, Wenzel was named the Big Ten Track and Field Coach of the Year in recognition of his team's performance and for qualifying no fewer than 33 male and female student-athletes for postseason competition.

In addition to the competitive success the Hawkeyes recorded in 2010-11, the UI also experienced tremendous success at the turnstiles. Iowa entered the 2010 home football season with all seven home games sold out. The UI will do the same in 2011 and boasts waiting lists for not only season tickets to the home games of Kirk Ferentz's squad, but also the premium seating options available inside the Paul W. Breckler Press Box at Kinnick Stadium.

Attendance at home games of first-year men's basketball coach Fran McCaffery soared 23 percent – the fifth-highest increase by percentage in the country and the largest by a team that did not advance to postseason play. Attendance at women's basketball games increased by almost 60 percent. Iowa ended the year ranked 13th – the program's highest finish in more than a decade.

As always, success at the gate provides Barta the financial resources to meet the mandate of Iowa's institutional leadership: Operate the intercollegiate athletics program with integrity, with a commitment to academic excellence, and without any support from taxpayers, i.e. be "self-sustaining."

Inherent in Barta's charge is to provide the more than 650 student-athletes who compete in the 24 intercollegiate athletics programs at the UI the best opportunity for success, including training and competition facilities that compare favorably or exceed those offered by comparable institutions. The 2010-11 season marked the first for the men's and women's swimming and diving teams in the UI's $60 million Campus Recreation and Wellness Center.

In late summer 2011, the UI completed a $47 million revitalization of Carver-Hawkeye Arena. That project includes the construction of a practice facility for men's and women's basketball and volleyball, a 10,000-square-foot strength training and cardiovascular center, and an expansion to the Don Gable Wrestling Complex. In addition to new locker room and support facilities for men's and women's basketball, wrestling and volleyball programs, and office space for the majority of Iowa administrative and coaching staffs.

The Carver project includes the installation of a statue of Gable at the facility's main entrance. That project will be completed in time for thousands of fans of the sport of wrestling to enjoy when the UI stages the 2012 USA Wrestling Olympic Team Trials in April 2012 – an event that represents not only the UI's commitment to its nationally-respected wrestling program, but Barta's desire to shine partnerships when success would be mutually beneficial.

The UI Department of Athletics will break ground on Phase I of a two-phase project for the UI football program in late summer 2011. Phase I includes the construction of a new indoor practice facility; Phase II includes construction of all football operations areas including locker rooms, team meeting rooms, athletic medical training space, video positions, and coaches offices and meeting rooms. Funded entirely through private support, the project is an important next phase of the master facilities plan for Hawkeye football. It will be constructed adjacent to the Dan and Margaret Kenyon Outdoor Practice Facility and immediately west of Kinnick Stadium.

Barta has also received permission from the State of Iowa Board of Regents to construct a new practice facility for the men's and women's golf programs. The facility will be located on the southern edge of the UI's award-winning Fribbie Golf Course and will begin construction as soon as the funding required is secured from friends and fans of the Iowa Hawkeyes and the UI's golf programs.

Barta's involvement in the UI campus community extends beyond intercollegiate athletics. He is a member of the President's Cabinet comprised of vice presidents and other campus leaders that provide counsel to UI President Sally Mason. That group was instrumental in the UI's response to record-setting flooding that damaged the campus and the Iowa City and Cambridge communities in June 2008.

Barta also represents the UI and the Hawkeyes at the conference and national level. During his first five years at the UI, he has participated in the creation and implementation of the Big Ten Network, the expansion of the Big Ten Conferences and management of athletics conferences nationally, and the Big Ten permanent bowl game agreements that were successfully implemented in 2010.

Nationally, Barta remains active in the Division III Athletics Directors Association, the National Association of College Directors of Athletics, and currently serves on the NCAA Football Committee Board of Directors.

Barta often suggests to his staff that "hope is not a strategy," which is why he is currently overseeing a comprehensive review of the strategic plan for the UI Athletics Department and has worked with the UI's leadership on a long-term financial plan.

Another favorite saying of his is, "Vision without resources is delusion." Over the course of his career he has been directly involved in raising hundreds of millions of dollars in support of intercollegiate athletics. This has remained a primary focus during his tenure at Iowa, where private support for the Hawkeyes continues to flourish despite a challenging economy.

In recent years, the department has received a long list of commitments to assist in capital projects and scholarship support, including gifts of $5 million each from long-time friends of the UI — Dale and Marilyn Howard, Bruce Rasteries and Richard Q. Jackson.

Under Barta's leadership — and thanks to a talented athletics development staff — the UI has seen year-over-year improvement in annual giving in spite of the difficult economic environment and has generated more than $20 million of philanthropic and corporate sponsorship support for the Carver-Hawkeye Arena project.

As the director of athletics at the University of Wyoming for three years, seven different UW coaches were named Mountain West Conference Coach of the Year. He also spearheaded a fund-raising effort that netted the Cowboy athletics program $11 million in private support and $3 million from the state fund.

As the senior associate athletic director at the University of Washington, he directed "campus for the Student-Athlete," was a participant in the design, construction and/or renovation of several UW athletics facilities, including Bank of America Arena and the Bomping Indoor Practice Facility. In addition to almost doubling the amount of annual private support received by UW, Barta also managed the department's national relations division, a task that included negotiating national media contracts.

His responsibilities at Washington expanded over time to include hiring of coaches and staff and coordinating the schedule for the Huskies men's basketball program. The roots of his development expertise extend to his first two positions during his undergraduate development and internships at the University of Southern Iowa and director of development at his alma mater, North Dakota State University.

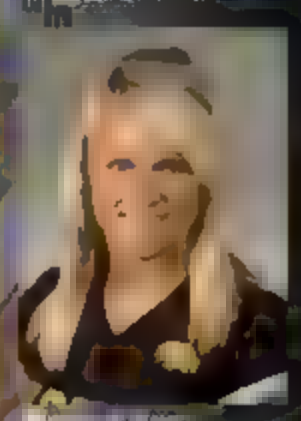

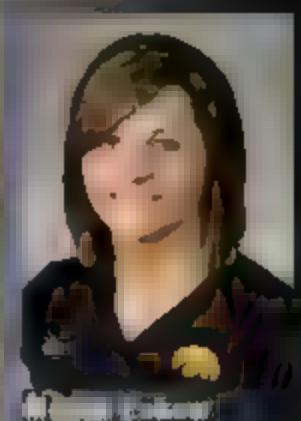

Barta earned a bachelor of science degree in mass communication and broadcast journalism and BSU in 1987. He was an option quarterback for Bison football squads that won the Western National Championship in 1983, 1985 and 1986.

Barta, and his wife, Candy, have a son, Luke (19) and a daughter, Madison (19), both born in 1963, in Minneapolis.

Playing volleyball at the University of Iowa not only allows student-athletes the opportunity to compete in the nationally recognized Big Ten Conference, it also provides a chance to reach the next level of competition and expose your talents internationally.

In 2011, sophomores Richard Bodell and Bethany Yeager represented the University of Iowa and the United States while competing for Team USA. Bodell helped lead USA Volleyball Women's Junior A2-Europe Program to the Gold medal at the European Global Challenge.

Yeager reached the semifinals and captured a bronze medal while competing for USA Volleyball Women's Junior Program.

Iowa assistant coach Ben Boldt has also served time as an assistant coach for USA Volleyball and helped lead the Women's Junior A2 Program through the USA Volleyball High Performance Championships in 2009.

"I chose to attend the University of Iowa because I felt it had so much to offer. The athletic program is great, with coaches and staff who clearly care about us all as individuals and as a team. I knew right away I would love playing with this group of girls at this intensity of play! I also thought the campus environment would suit me: the buildings and river are gorgeous, and the cute shops downtown are great. Finally, the academic level of Iowa impressed me. With all of these outstanding aspects of the University of Iowa, it was an easy decision!"

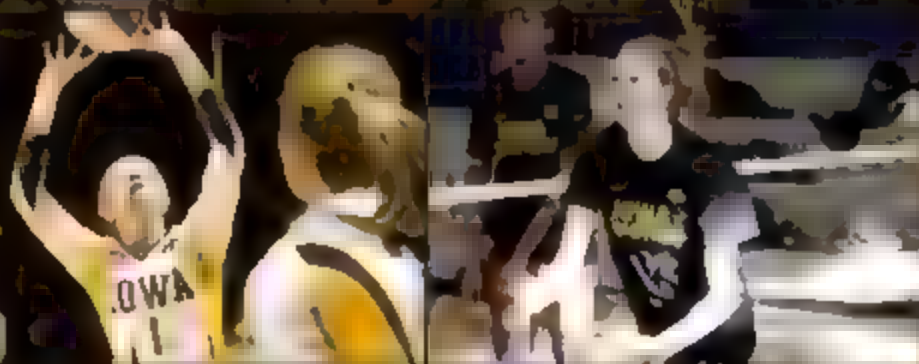

EMILY HENRY - Freshman - Saylor - New Berlin, WI

"I chose to play for the University of Iowa because I wanted to represent the state in which I grew up. I am so proud of where I come from and I couldn't possibly imagine playing for any other school. By choosing Iowa I am exposed to a great educational program in the field of nursing. Like the administration always says, we are students first and athletes second. It's a privilege to be a part of a great volleyball program and a great school."

MILLIE WISE - Senior - Grand Rapids, Iowa

"I chose to attend the University of Iowa because it was an incredible opportunity for me to receive a high level education while getting to play the game that I love. I jumped at the chance to play volleyball in the Big Ten conference and I have loved playing against some of the best teams in the nation. When I first visited, I fell in love with the campus and I knew it was where God wanted me. I'll pursue up academic and athletic career. My coaches are so passionate about the game and I love playing for them. My teammates are incredible and I enjoy competing with them. My coaches and my teammates sealed the deal for me to come to the University of Iowa. I love being a Hawkeye!"

BENJAMIN YEAGER - Sophomore - Besham, Texas

"I chose Iowa because it is a Big Ten school with some of the best competition in the nation. Also, it's perfect distance from home and offers the academic and social aspects I searched for. Iowa's coaching staff and players made a huge impact on my decision. Their kindness and passion for volleyball made the choice easy."

WIKI DAILEY - Sophomore - Franklin, Wis.

"I chose Iowa because I like the campus and the town. I like how the campus was located in the middle of Iowa City, so it still had a small town feel. The girls on the team and everyone on campus were very welcoming. The whole experience made me want to play at Iowa."

BRITNEY HARRIS - Senior - Davenport, Iowa

"I have wanted to be a Hawkeye for as long as I can remember. Having been born and raised in Iowa City, the University of Iowa is like a second home to me. Both of my parents are alumni and my team played volleyball here. I am really close to my family. It is very special to be able to carry on that tradition with a sport I love! Plus, the Big Ten is the nation's top volleyball conference, so it will be amazing to have the opportunity to compete against the top teams in the country. Iowa has been making a lot of progress under Coach Diersma so it is an exciting time to be a part of this program."

ALLI O'BRIEN - Freshman - Iowa City, Iowa

RADIO - INTERNET BROADCASTS

Hawkeye volleyball fans across the country unable to attend the excitement at Carver-Hawkeye Arena can follow the Hawkeyes via the world wide web on Hawkeye All-Access, the audio/video webstream provided by hawkeyesports.com. Fans in the Iowa City area can hear live broadcast of Iowa's home and away matches on AM-800 KKIC. Former Hawkeye Daily Journal beat reporter Ian Martin calls the play-by-play for the Hawkeyes.

THE BIG TEN

With the launch of the Big Ten Network, the Big Ten is the only conference in the country that has its own national network devoted to Big Ten athletes programming. NCAA volleyball fans can follow the Hawkeyes and their Big Ten cohorts on the network in stunning hi-definition. Fans can also watch a number of games, including most home events, on Hawkeye All-Access and at BTN.com.

HAWKEYESPORTS.COM

Media and fans can obtain a wealth of up-to-date information about the Hawkeyes on the official web site of the University of Iowa -- hawkeyesports.com. Live stats (game-tracked), box scores, play-by-play, photo galleries, coach and bio information, video, podcasts and more can be found on the web site. The volleyball team also has its own facebook site and twitter address.

Furthermore, hawkeyesports.com has a fresh look after the site was re-designed and re-launched in October 2010. The new and improved site has enhanced graphics, is easier to navigate, and has more content and video/audio for the diehard Hawkeye fan.

IOWA

The University of Iowa volleyball team takes tremendous pride and enjoyment in its charity and community service activities.

Since Sherry Dingman took over the program in 2000, the Hawkeyes have been very active in the Iowa City Community. Iowa players have been actively involved in helping the Iowa Children's Museum, University of Iowa Dance Marathon, the Ronald McDonald House and the University of Iowa Children's Hospital.

The following is a list of just some of the community service activities the Hawkeye volleyball team has participated in throughout the Iowa City community:

INDIVIDUAL SPORTS CAMPS

The University of Iowa Individual Volleyball Sports Camp is available for players of all skill levels in grades 5-12. The sports camp provides an opportunity for girls to experience the excitement surrounding Iowa Volleyball. The coaching staff will work with all athletes, from beginners to elite level volleyball players, in a competitive environment. Coach Klingman and the Iowa coaching staff take pride in assisting all players as they take their skills to the next level.

LITTLE SPIKERS

The volleyball program also hosts the annual "Little Spikers" clinic for children grades K-4. Participants are able to join current Hawkeye players and staff and learn to "Play like the Hawks" by participating in basic volleyball activities using a special "Lite" volleyball and a lower net.

The Hawkeye volleyball camps provide an excellent opportunity for Hawkeye players and fans to interact and learn the game of volleyball while competing in a fun, instructional and fan-friendly environment.

IOWA RANKS AMONG BIG TEN LEADERS

The UI Department of Athletics is under the direction of Gary Barta and is regarded as one of the top intercollegiate programs in the nation. Once again, the Hawkeyes enjoyed success both athletically and academically in 2010-11.

Sixty-four Hawkeyes earned all-conference accolades, while 46 were recognized as All-Americans. Hawkeye student-athletes excelled in the classroom as well with 172 earning Academic All-Big Ten honors. Thirty-four Hawkeyes were honored by the Big Ten Conference with the Distinguished Scholar Award. The graduation rate of Iowa's student-athletes has improved in each of the past 10 years and has consistently ranked above the graduation rate of all UI students.

Iowa's men's cross country, men's and women's tennis, and softball teams were recognized by the NCAA for their high academic marks. The four teams earned Public Recognition Awards, based on their most recent multi-year Academic Progress Rates.

The UI closed the 2010-11 athletics year with a bang, establishing a school record in total points scored in the annual Learfield Sports Directors' Cup. The Hawkeyes accumulated 510 points in the competition that awards points based on each team's finish in national championship competition in up to 20 total sports (10 women's and 10 men's).

Several new projects have come to completion on the Iowa campus. Some of the latest additions to the UI campus include the completion of the new Campus Recreation and Wellness Center, which houses the swimming and diving teams, and the state-of-the-art $7 million rowing boathouse. In addition to the brand new swimming and rowing facilities, the Roy G. Kasso Athletics Hall of Fame and Visitors Center, the Russell and Ann Gordon Athletic Learning Center and the Hawkeye Tennis and Recreation Center completed construction in recent years. Furthermore, the UI completed a $47 million Carver-Hawkeye Arena renovation project in the summer of 2010.

Hinnick Stadium received a major upgrade and renovation that was completed just prior to the 2006 season. The $89 million project included the replacing of the south end zone stands and building of a four-level press box that houses 47 guest suites. New scoreboards, video walls, concession stands and restrooms were also part of the project.

IOWA WRESTLING

The Hawkeye wrestling team continued its dominance on the mat, finishing third at the NCAA Championships. Iowa has claimed 23 national championships, including three in the last four years, and 34 Big Ten titles. Five Hawkeyes earned All-American accolades en route to the team's third place finish.

IOWA FOOTBALL

Iowa football continued its stellar play, finishing in the upper division of the Big Ten for the ninth time in the last 10 years. The Hawkeyes capped their season with a thrilling 27-24 come-from-behind victory over Missouri in the Bright Bowl. The win was Iowa's third straight bowl victory, a school record.

IOWA WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

The women's basketball team had another outstanding season, finishing third in the league and advancing to the NCAA Tournament. Tim Bluder, who is a three-time Big Ten Coach of the Year and two-time Regional Coach of the Year, coached Kachine Alexander and Jaime Priddy to honorable mention All-American status. Alexander was also tabbed the Premier Player of the Year. Bluder has guided Iowa to eight first division finishes in her 11 years and has taken her program to eight NCAA Tournaments, including four straight.

IOWA MEN'S TRACK AND FIELD

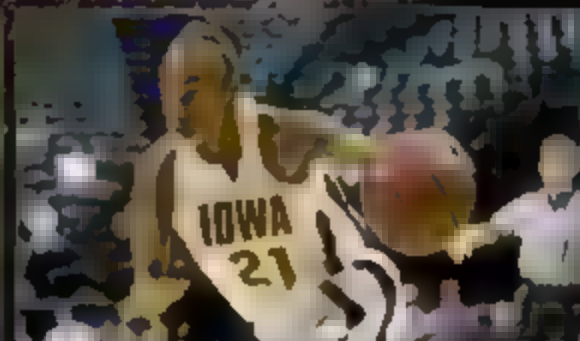

The men's track and field team finished eighth in the nation at the indoor national championships and won the outdoor Big Ten title in 2011. Coach Larry Wicresak was named Big Ten Coach of the Year while numerous Hawkeyes earned all-league and All-American honors.

IOWA MEN'S GOLF

Head coach Mark Haskins continued to have his men's golfers play at a high level. The Hawkeyes advanced to the NCAA Championships for the second time in three years and tied for 10th nationally — a school-record finish. Vince India was named the Big Ten Player of the Year and earned the prestigious Jack Nelson Trophy, which goes to the male golfer with the lowest stroke average in the Big Ten.

IOWA MEN'S BASKETBALL

The men's basketball team had its first season under head coach Fran McCaffery. Hawkeye fans flocked to Carver-Hawkeye Arena to watch the Black and Gold. Attendance increased 20 percent, which ranked fifth-best in the country.

DID YOU KNOW...

48 percent of UI students are from out of state

Eight Iowa graduate programs rank first or second in the nation according to America's Best Graduate Schools, produced by U.S. News & World Report. In addition, the Iowa Writer's Workshop is ranked number one in the nation by Poets & Writers.

With over 30,000 students in a city of roughly 75,000, UI offers a different atmosphere than many other universities in the Big Ten or the Midwest.

The unemployment rate in Iowa City (4.7%) ranks among the nation's lowest. Iowa City was listed by Forbes Magazine (2009).

Building on a rich tradition of excellence and innovation, the University of Iowa is educating more than 30,000 students annually, preparing them for success immediately following graduation, as well as continued achievements throughout their lives.

The University of Iowa offers more than 100 areas of undergraduate and graduate study, including seven professional degree programs, through its 11 colleges: the colleges of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Business, Dentistry, Education, Engineering, Law, Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy and Public Health, and the Graduate College. The University also provides on-campus and distance learning opportunities through its division of Continuing Education.

Recognized as one of the nation's leading centers for the arts, creative writing, space physics, hydraulics, basic health and science research, and communication studies, the University of Iowa is also developing new strengths in informatics, nanoscience, simulation, and more.

The University of Iowa has maintained its tradition as an innovator in research, with a focus on work in speech pathology, science and medicine. The University is nationally recognized for being home of one of the nation's premier university-owned hospitals.

Diversity at the University of Iowa

The University of Iowa has worked hard to ensure that students of all races, creeds, and backgrounds are represented in the student body. In the past five years, Iowa has moved aggressively towards its goal of creating communities of African American, Hispanic/Latino (a), Asian American, and Native American students, and making the University a stimulating, welcoming place.

The Center for Diversity and Enrichment is a coordinated university-wide measure for creating and maintaining this campus diversity.

and providing opportunities for all University students interested in other cultures. Scholarships, fellowships, and support programs help to make this possible. International Programs brings together scholars from around the world and UI students looking to expand their perspectives by studying abroad or exploring global issues on campus. International students at the University of Iowa represent more than 100 countries.

CONSIDER THE COMMUNITY

Some universities offer the large city atmosphere. Others offer the college town experience. The University of Iowa is uniquely situated to offer student athletes the very best of both of these different worlds.

Once the state capital, Iowa City is considered one of the truly great college towns in America. The city swells with excitement on game day when nearly 16,000 Hawkeye fans from across the state and Midwest converge on Carver-Hawkeye Arena to cheer the Hawkeyes to another victory.

Iowa City's downtown area is a live and thriving. Restaurants, shops and sidewalk cafes face onto pedestrian malls full of people watchers, street entertainers and food vendors.

Attractive in size and friendliness, Iowa City is big in the sense that it offers all the advantages and conveniences of much larger metropolitan areas like summer and permanent employment opportunities, live entertainment and concerts, fine dining and shopping, industry and commerce.

Iowa City is located in the heart of eastern Iowa, within easy driving distance of several major Midwestern cities including the state capital, Des Moines, as well as Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Minneapolis and Milwaukee.

"Iowa City is unlike any other place in the state, both because of its regional beauty and because of its independent, strong-willed spirit."

"There's nothing like feeling the crisp air as one tours the Big Ten campus, just as there's no other feeling like walking the shores along Lake MacBride, north of town. This is an ideal location for a weekend trip filled with sights, sounds, shopping and plenty of activities on any given weekend."

"If there is a star in Iowa, Iowa City is it."

Iowa has over 1400 miles of trails for hiking and biking within its state parks and recreational areas.

A CAMPUS ON THE MOVE

The University of Iowa campus caters to pedestrians and bicyclists; it's compact enough to cross in a 20-minute walk. A free ride on a campus bus can cut that time in half. Entertainment on campus and in Iowa City is geared toward student budgets, with many events offered at no charge. The University of Iowa offers more than 400 student organizations, extensive recreation facilities, 50 fraternities and sororities, and a broad schedule of arts performances, lectures, cultural celebrations and club sports and intramural athletic contests to go along with the intercollegiate competition within the Big Ten Conference.

STUDENT-ORIENTED NIGHT LIFE

Iowa's campus is set right in the city's downtown area, where you'll find dance clubs, movies, coffee houses, and restaurants to suit every taste. Live music can be found any night of the week in clubs and restaurants, even outside on warm evenings on the downtown pedestrian mall. Iowa City businesses are convenient and geared toward student tastes and needs.

CONSIDER THE OPPORTUNITY FOR A QUALITY EDUCATION

A quality education is one of the highest priorities at the University of Iowa. Just over 90 percent of Johnson County residents have graduated from high school, and in Iowa City nearly half of all residents have earned bachelor's degrees. In fact, census statistics indicate Johnson County is the 10th "smartest" county in the nation based on percentage of residents holding bachelor's degrees.

The University of Iowa represents a strong presence in the community while enhancing the quality of life in Iowa City.

Your aspiration may be a career in medicine, law or education. Regardless of the specific career field, it's important to identify the college baseball program that places a high priority on academics and allows you to take full advantage of the tremendous educational opportunities available.

At the University of Iowa, student-athletes learn quickly that academic success is the highest priority.

ATHLETICS AND ACADEMICS

At The University of Iowa, a strong relationship has been developed between athletics and academics, where coaches and athletes work hand-in-hand with academic advisors and professors, attitudinally the student-athlete the best possible opportunity to excel in the classroom and in athletics.

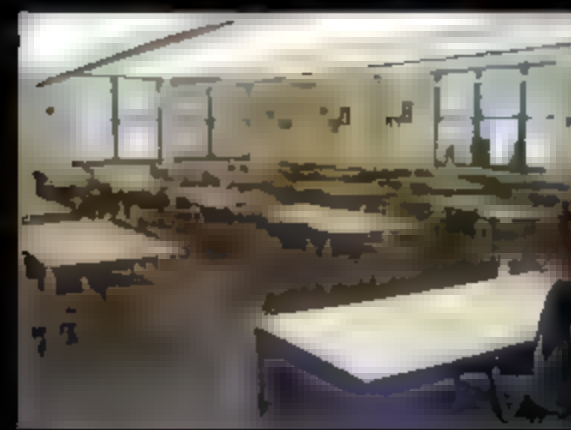

From the first visit for any prospective student-athlete, to the completion of their academic and athletic career at Iowa, academic personnel play a large role in the career of Hawkeye student-athletes. Beginning with the on-campus visits, student-athletes are introduced to professors in their selected field of study, and are able to establish a relationship and develop an understanding of the academic setting in which they will be involved.

THE RUSSELL AND ANN GERDIN ATHLETIC LEARNING CENTER

The University of Iowa Russell and Ann Gerdin Athletic Learning Center opened in the fall of 2003. The Learning Center is a multi-level, 20,000-square foot facility, which provides one all-purpose area for the academic pursuits for Iowa's male and female student-athletes. The facility is centrally located on the UI campus for easy access by all student-athletes and staff.

The Learning Center features an auditorium, two classrooms, study lounges for freshmen and upper-class student-athletes, a computer lab, a teaching lab, the athletic library, office space for Iowa's Academic Student Services staff and a display area to recognize the academic accomplishments of Iowa's student-athletes.

When a student athlete considers his future, he should consider progress beyond baseball. He should consider where he wants to be five, ten, fifteen years from today, and the best chance of action for getting there. Also, he should decide early on to ensure a successful literary challenge on graduation.

Without a doubt, the men and women of Extracurricular have made their careers and the steps to get there. These former University of Iowa undergraduates have gone on to become leaders in their chosen fields. They distinguished their academic studies as well as the time they spent on after a long ball career.

THE HAWKS' NICKNAME

The University of Iowa has a long and storied history of sports. The name Hawks was originally the name of the team in the territorial period. The first of the Hawks was written by James Furman Cooper. Cooper had the Delaware Indians borrow the name on a white scout who lived with them.

In 1838, 12 years after the book was published, people in the territory of Iowa adopted the nickname, chiefly through the efforts of Judge David Rice of Burlington and James Edwards of Fort Madison.

Edwards, editor of the Fort Madison Patriot, moved his paper to Burlington in 1843 and renamed it the Burlington Hawks. The two men continued their campaign to popularize the name, and territorial officials eventually gave it their formal approval.
Harky The Hawks

The Hawks nickname gained a tangible symbol in 1948 when a cartoon character, later known as Harky the Hawks, was introduced. The creator was Richard Spencer III, instructor of Journalism at Iowa.

The Hawk was an immediate hit and acquired a name through a statewide contest staged by the athletic department. John Franklin, a Belle Plaine alumnus, was the man who suggested Harky.

Since his birth more than 45 years ago, Harky has symbolized Iowa athletics and optimism. He even donned a military uniform during the Korean War and became the insignia of the 124th Fighter Squadron.

During the mid-1950s, Harky came to life at a football game as the Iowa mascot. Since that time, Harky has been a familiar figure at Iowa athletic events.
